A fiery crash involving two autos and a Granite City fire truck claimed the lives of a Mitchell man and his 7-year-old son at 7 p.m. Friday, at 27th Street and Madison Avenue.

Three firemen were injured, one seriously, and a passenger in the third vehicle also was treated for injuries.

Killed were Charles David Marshall, 35, Rural Route Two, Box 777M, and his youngest son, Darren, 7. The gas tank of the Marshall auto exploded and burst into flames when struck by the fire truck.

Driver of the fire truck, Engineman Robert Stroehde, 32, of 2101 Clark Ave., sustained a compound fracture of the left hip and thigh, a fractured pelvis, a possible back fracture and internal injuries. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital and later transferred to Jewish Hospital, St. Louis. His condition was reported serious, but not critical.

Admitted to Hospital

Also injured were Fireman Raymond Rone II, 25, of 2832 Wayne Ave., who was struck on the head by a falling object, suffered head injuries and back strain and was admitted to the hospital; and Mrs. Lenore Stegelmeyer, 35, of 2872 Ruppel St., a passenger in the third vehicle, who suffered contusions of the scalp, underwent x-rays of the skull and spine and was released.

Fireman Thomas Jenkins, 27, of 2438 Grand Ave., who was riding on the rear of the fire truck, suffered a minor injury but refused hospital treatment.

Police said the fire department vehicle traveling north on Madison Avenue with its red lights flashing and siren operating went through the red signal light at 27th Street.

The pumper struck the rear of the Marshall auto going east on 27th Street and hit a westbound car on 27th which was halted at the traffic light, operated by Frederick E. Stegelmeyer, 48, of 2872 Ruppel St.

Mr. Marshall's auto then struck the front of Herring Flowers and Gifts Shop, 2700 Madison Ave., knocking down a

Dental School Site Selected

The permanent facility for the School of Dental Medicine at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will be constructed on an 80-acre site located on the local campus east of the academic core.

A presentation about the site was made to the SIU Board of Trustees at their March meeting, held Friday at SIU-SW. The site is between the fan-shaped parking lots and Illinois Highway 157.

Gene Trotter, associate university architect, told the trustees that this is the area earmarked for the dental school plan for professional school use.

He said four other sites were fully investigated first by the project architects Smith, Hinchman & Grylls of Detroit, and then by the professional staff of the Associate University Architect's office.

The five sites were: 1-an area west of University drive near the south entrance to the campus; 2-the site selected which is directly east of the academic core; 3-a tract in the northeast corner of the campus; 4-a tract near the Mississippi River Festival site and 5th acreage near the campus housing facilities.

All sites were analyzed by the following criteria: traffic, capacity, utilities, relationship to the academic core; growth and staging, master plan relationship, physical site, subsurface conditions and ecology.

Trotter told the trustees that the most satisfactory traffic situation of any of the five proposed.

It provides major highway access from all directions, would require minimum road construction and is easily accessible from any future regional mass transit system along the Illinois Terminal Railroad right-of-way.

Parking Available
In addition, there is a possibility of using existing parking areas, and the site chosen provides easy pedestrian access to the academic core area of the University.

The site also allows for the greatest amount of usable building space of any of the sites and its topography provides the best potential for long range development.

Ecological advantages were also cited by Trotter. The area could be developed without any drainage problems and would require little destruction of existing vegetation, trustees were told.

There will be no contest for any of the three school board posts to be filled in Granite City School District 9, or for any of the three board openings subject to election in Venice School District 3.

The single contest will be in Madison School District 12 where three candidates have filed for election to two board openings. All school board members are elected to three-year terms.

In the Madison district, incumbent board members Oel Blumenstock and Frank Derner have filed as candidates for re-election. A third candidate is Theodes Kemp, 821 Franklin St.

Candidates seeking re-election to new terms without opposition in the Granite City district are George Moore, Don Stucke and Harold Davis. Davis has filed as a rural member.

Venice district board members seeking re-election, also without opposition, are Leo Davinroy, Elmer Taylor and Jack Tolliver.

Opposition to only one of the eight school board posts open to election April 10 in the three school districts by the Quad-City area developed before the close of the filing period Saturday.

Mayor Barred from Appointing Those Unacceptable to Council

A circuit court order divesting Granite City Mayor Donald Parney of authority he had assumed in appointing city officers and personnel "probably" will be appealed, Parney said during the weekend following a study of the ruling.

The declaratory judgement, holding the mayor has no authority to appoint either a police chief or fire chief and is without authority to set the salary of any city officer or employee, was handed down in Edwardsville Thursday afternoon by Associate Judge Howard White.

The ruling is expected to have far-reaching effects upon city council activities since Judge White's order places full authority for final approval of personnel appointments with the council. The order specifies that appointments made by the mayor must be confirmed by the council, and that 30-day appointments cannot be made in any case.

The case in which 12 aldermen are plaintiffs was filed in July 1970, to climax a long-standing dispute over the mayor's authority in appointing certain city officers. Mayor Parney contended that Illinois statutes gave him the power to name city officers, including the police chief and fire chief.

Council members opposing the mayor's actions voted down appointments which Parney then reinstated by appointing the officials on a 30-day basis.

Parney quoted statutes which he claimed gave him the authority to make appointments in the case of aldermen Charles Moonen, William Dallas, Everett Morien, Clyde Boyd, Roy Poul-

Pre-Care, After-Care Mobile Team Plan for Mental Health Services

(Sixth of a series on the Quad-City mental health center.)

Goals and objectives of a proposed pre-care and after-care program:

Primary goals are pre-care and after-care services.

Secondary goals of this program are: (1) a more direct relationship with the consumer of mental health services; (2) reduction in the rate of readmission to state institutions.

(3) Greater inter-agency cooperation; (4) more community involvement and awareness of mental health problems and services; (5) greatest cooperation and working relationships with other community care givers, such as police, local (non-state) hospitals, schools and physicians.

Program methods: The design of this program reflects the cooperative pre-planning efforts of several mental health facilities—namely, Madison County Sub-zone Zone VI; Madison County Unit, Alton State Hospital; Madison County Mental Health Society, Quad-Cities Center, Granite City; Madison County Mental Health Center, Inc., Alton; and Specialized Services, Inc., Alton.

Four Teams in County
The program design is to provide a highly mobile team of after-care and pre-care workers with capability to extend themselves into the patient's community, hence, moving the delivery of services to the patient population in the community.

There would be four after-care teams operating within Madison County.

As referred to earlier, Madison County through the combined cooperative efforts of Madison County Sub-zone Zone VII, the Madison County Mental Health Society, Quad-Cities Center, the Madison County Mental Health Center, Inc., Alton, and Specialized Services, Inc., Alton, has agreed upon a division of

100,000 Accidental Poisonings Occur Annually; Greater Caution is Urged

"As few as three or four iron pills can kill a young child," warned David E. Davis, assistant chief pharmacist at St. Elizabeth Hospital, in noting that "National Poison Prevention Week" begins through the United States today.

A proclamation designating this week as "Poison Prevention Week" was issued during the weekend by the mayors of the Quad-Cities.

"Most people think of powerful drugs and household cleaners when the consider poisonings," the St. Elizabeth Hospital pharmacist stated. "But, as few as three or four iron sulfate tablets can be toxic to a child. Other seemingly innocuous drugs and agents can be even more dangerous."

100,000 Poisonings
In proclaiming "Poison Prevention Week" on a nation-wide basis, President Richard Nixon emphasized that more than 100,000 accidental poisonings occur in America each year.

Almost three-fourths of the victims are children under 5 years of age. The annual national observance is an effort to awaken the public to the dangers of accidental poisonings and to publicize methods for reducing the tolls of injuries and deaths, Davis said.

In the United States last year, children swallowed such products as aspirin, lye, bleach, gasoline and furniture polish, he noted.

"Our problem is clear," the pharmacist said. "It is to educate ourselves and others responsible for the care of children in the proper use of these products and to remember that each time we store a bottle of these products in the home, we are also storing a potential poisoning accident to a child."

Blaser Long-Time Worker in GOP Politics

By IRA TEINOWITZ
Press-Record
Springfield Correspondent

William Blaser, 47, acting director of the state's Environmental Protection Agency, was sitting at his desk talking just a few days after the Senate Executive Committee refused to confirm his nomination to head the agency.

"I really got involved in government working on behalf of honest vote counts in Chicago. That actually went way back to 1942 when I was a student at Northwestern and they asked for volunteers to serve as poll watchers."

A successful businessman who describes his occupation as being "a professional president," Blaser has been active in Republican politics since shortly after his college days.

"At first, I did work on behalf of several Republican candidates. Later, I became a Republican precinct captain. Eventually I went into the state legislature."

Blaser was one of the so-called Blue Ribbon state legislators elected during the alternate election of 1964.

He co-sponsored ethics bills.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

and open housing bills during his term in the legislature. He also served in the Commission for Reorganization of the General Assembly which recommended a number of steps for modernization of the legislative process.

His support for a fair housing bill brought him into contact with another fair housing proponent in the House—Cecil Partee.

Partee, now a State Senator and President Pro Tem of the Senate serves on the Executive Committee. He voted against the confirmation of Blaser but urged the Governor to appoint him to some other post within the agency.

"I bear him no personal grudge," Blaser said. "He's a high quality gentleman and he voted as he had to."

Left Legislature
Blaser left the legislature at the end of the 1966 session. The corporation he worked for gave him a choice, quit the corporation or quit the legislature. Shortly after leaving the legislature, Blaser became a member of the board of the Better Government Association (BGA).

In 1968 he was chairman of the Rich Township (south suburban) Ogilvie for Governor Committee.

When Ogilvie won, he asked Blaser to help in the transition from one administration to another.

other. Blaser's job was the Department of Registration and Education.

"Apparently what was done was not only satisfactory," Blaser said, "but more than so because after that the Governor asked me to come with him full time to work on the organizational problems of government."

Formed Consultant Firm
Unlike other employees, though, Blaser did not go to work directly for the state. Instead he and Allen Anderson formed a management consultant firm to deal only with the state, because, Blaser said, "this would give us independence of action from the personnel of the agency who are so often influenced by the title a person carries."

Blaser was sharply questioned on this by the committee.

Blaser's firm did a variety of things for the state. It hired people for income tax collection, it reorganized the Department of Revenue, it recruited a manager for the state fair and last September it began a study of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Blaser said attempts to work with agency head Clarence Klassen met with little success. "Information came to us very, very slowly and in an incomplete form."

Called by Governor
February 2, while on vacation in Florida, Blaser received a phone call from the Governor.

"He told me he was relieving Clarence Klassen and asked if I would take the job."

Last week acting-director Blaser learned he might not be permanent director. By a 13 to 10 vote the committee voted not to confirm him.

"The fight against pollution is entering some of its roughest phases," Blaser said. "It's going to take someone who can manage to balance off some of the conflicting aims of society in setting priorities and getting the job done."

GC Steel Credit Union 'Crucible' in Madison April 2 by Masquers

30 Yrs. Old in March

The Granite City Steel Employees' Federal Credit Union is 30 years old this month.

In 1941, eleven Granite City Steel men got together to sign a charter founding the Credit Union. An organization certificate was approved by the Bureau of Federal Credit Unions on March 3, 1941.

From a meager beginning, it grew to 370 members in the first year, with assets of $3,601. The start of World War II stunted its growth as most men and women from the Mill were doing their patriotic duty by purchasing War Bonds.

The year 1947 was a turning point. Granite City Steel Co. approved payroll deductions for the Credit Union loans, followed later that year with approval for share deductions. From that time up to the present, the Credit Union grew by leaps and bounds.

By 1949 assets had grown to $125,000 and membership was up to 1,157.

Until 1957, the Credit Union office was located on plant property, when growth forced a move to the present day property owned and operated by employees of Granite City Steel Co. at 1517 East Tenth Street.

Assets have grown to $7,253,388 with membership of 6,725, operated by Manager Joe Lucida, Assistant Manager Ron Pugh and eight women clerks typists and machine operators.

The Officers are Ernest E. President; Alex Stubbish, vice president; Billy Heath, treasurer and George Grimm, secretary. Serving as directors are Bert Houston, Russ Robinson, Bill Webb, Edison Phelps, Charles King, Robert Kelly and Norman Alexander.

Madison Sued for $5,000
A suit for $5,000 has been filed for Opal May Foster against the City of Madison in Madison County Circuit Court as the result of injuries sustained in a fall on a sidewalk last May 15 at 12th Street and Madison Avenue. Negligence in maintenance of the walk was charged.

Arthur Miller, author of "The Crucible," is next on the "Masquers" list. They play it to be performed Friday and Saturday in Collinsville at Webster Junior High School, and in Madison on April 2 at the Holy Trinity Hall, 12th Street and Madison Avenue.

The play first appeared in 1953, when the public was agitated over the investigation by the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy into Communism in government.

Miller says in the preface to his "Collected Plays" that this investigation and the accompanying public excitement led to his writing "The Crucible," though the Salem witch trials had interested him for many years.

A nice and daughter of a parish clergyman were seized by convulsions and swelling of the throat, and all the symptoms produced by hysterics.

The belief that evil spirits in the form of witches were permitted to afflict the people was soon widespread. Terror took possession of people's minds and held it about six months.

The afflicted and the accused became so numerous that no person was safe from suspicion and its consequences.

20 Lost Lives
Between the spring and summer of 1692, 19 persons hanged; one was pressed to death; 55 were frightened or tortured into confessions; and 150 were imprisoned. Among those hanged was Rev. Mr. Burroughs, an exemplary clergyman, whose piety of character was clear.

Some, with the hope of saving their own lives, accused friends and relatives of being witches. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Adult tickets are $1.50, and student tickets are $1. Current time is 8:15 p.m.

The play is being directed by Ronald Pennell.

Vietnam Quiet, Soldier Tells Parents in Call

"Things are very quiet right now in Vietnam, so you can tell the parents of guys over here not to worry about them too much as everything is well taken care of," Army Sergeant Larry Matyas advised his mother and father in a telephone call home last week.

The surprise phone call came at 5 a.m. Granite City time and 7 p.m. Vietnam time to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Matyas, 5209 Lakeview Drive.

The parents of six boys, the couple has a second serviceman son, Private Roger Matyas, who enlisted in the Army in Feb. 18. Currently he is taking basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Sgt. Matyas is stationed in the Tan An area, south of Saigon. The base is about 100 miles from the Cambodian border, he told his parents. He is a 50mm. gunner in a "Duster" tank, based with the 60th Artillery.

The local soldier attended Granite City High School and enlisted in the Army in July 1969. Initially, Sgt. Matyas was assigned to Germany, but after spending a few months in Europe he volunteered to serve in Vietnam.

Sgt. Matyas will observe his 18th birthday on April 2. He is the oldest of the Matyas' six sons.

Program to Cut Public Aid Cost is Urged by Simon

Lieutenant Governor Paul Simon has called for a four-point program to reduce public aid expenditures in Illinois.

Simon pointed out that public aid expenditures have grown from $141 million for fiscal year 1966 when he was first elected to the legislature—to $1.1 billion for the 1972 fiscal year. This will be an increase over the current fiscal year of $275 million.

He urged that every possible resource and effort be directed towards "maximizing job opportunities for those on public aid. Those on public aid who are potentially employable must be given every opportunity for a meaningful livelihood."

Before this can be accomplished, Simon suggested that revisions be made in public aid procedures.

He outlined these points:

1) Those who are blind, totally and permanently disabled, and receiving old-age assistance should not come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Aid. The negative impact come tax could be applied to these people without any difficulty. In doing this, they would have an opportunity to live in dignity without the costly bureaucracy and red tape involved in present public aid programs.

Need Day Care Centers
2) Day care centers must be developed and supported by churches and businesses, as well as government. Mothers and dependent children must be encouraged to seek work opportunities, thus helping themselves financially and enriching their homes culturally. They will be able to do this knowing that their children are cared for. This will be a major step toward ending this waste of human lives and public resources.

3) The Illinois State Employment Service should work more imaginatively with the Department of Public Aid to place employable public aid recipients in the private sector. Efforts should be made by both employers and the state to train recipients for jobs. As a last resort, government should provide employment to those recipients who cannot be placed. It is better that these men and women be given an opportunity to make some contribution to society for their compensation than that their lives be subsidized by a degrading dole.

4) The lieutenant governor also urged the federal government to assume the cost of public aid and establish standards with some flexibility for cost of living increases.

"The federal assumption of costs, together with the establishment of national standards, will reduce some of the excessive movement from state to state by welfare recipients which now costs all of us, not only in public aid dollars, but in school problems, housing difficulties and other problems of our society," Simon noted.

Rendelman Says Alton Paper Making Errors

The chancellor of Southern Illinois University—Southwest has issued the following statement regarding news stories which appeared in the Alton Evening Telegraph on March 10 and March 17:

"For the second time in seven days the Alton Telegraph has published erroneous reports about purchases and the use of equipment by Southern Illinois University. No request for verification was received by the University prior to publication of the erroneous material."

"It is unfortunate that the Telegraph has allowed itself to be used as a carrier of false information which may influence action on the annual budget for higher education."

On March 17 the Telegraph, in a story written from Springfield by Arthur J. Thomason, reported that the University had purchased a $15,000 house boat to be used for botanical courses at the southwestern campus.

Chancellor Rendelman said the only boat used at SIU-SW for botanical purposes is a small metal rowboat, equipped with an outboard motor.

"There is no $15,000 house boat at the southwestern campus. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Matyas, first article had related to the size of the SIU airplane fleet."

Simon Asks Small Towns Be Restored on State Map

Illinois' Lieutenant Governor Paul Simon has asked Governor Richard B. Ogilvie to restore the names of at least 85 villages, towns and cities his administration removed from Illinois' 1971 state road map.

In a letter to Ogilvie, Simon said:

"Since I come from a small town — Troy — I may be prejudiced, but I recommend that you take action as soon as possible to restore the names of communities that have been removed from Illinois' main road map.

"I feel that these omissions work a great disservice on the affected communities and may have a negative effect on their economies," Simon stated. "Several mayors of these communities share my feelings on this matter."

"At a time when your administration proclaims 'In The New Illinois We Accommodate,' I maintain that we aren't 'accommodating' these villages, towns and cities and the 788,448 Illinoisans who live there."

Simon said today, "Even though this practice of placing smaller communities on the back of the map may be long standing, it can lead eventually to the complete omission of a community on the index. The villages of Mettawa in Lake County and Cleveland in Henry County, for example, this year disappeared completely from the map index, although they still appear on the back of the map. Anyone looking for these villages on the map would be completely frustrated in locating them. They would appear from the index to no longer exist."

Simon said the names of towns in Madison county that have been eliminated from the map include Troy, Roxana, Maryville, Glen Carbon, Godfrey, Hamel and Hartford.

Hope Lutheran Church was the scene of the wedding Saturday afternoon of Miss Charlene Kay Eberhart, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Eberhart, of Rural Route Two, and Danny Ray Schwendeman, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Schwendeman, also of Route Two.

Thornridge Final State Cage Champ Of Single Division

The Chicago suburbs were in the spotlight Saturday as two teams from that area met for the Illinois high school basketball championship. D'Ignazio Thornridge edged Oak Lawn 52-50.

Thornridge is the last single-division state champ. Next year, small-school and big-school championships will be decided a week apart.

Third place went to Danville, 77-57 over Springfield Lanphier. In the semifinals, Thornridge beat Danville 57-47, and Oak Lawn ousted Lanphier 69-63.

Quarterfinal results Friday were: Thornridge 63, Kewanee 58; Oak Lawn 71, Benton 58; Danville 63, Paris 61; and Lanphier 92, Rockford Boylan 78.

MORE ABOUT

Fire Truck

a spokesman for the fire department said. The wind whipped up sparks around the wrecked vehicles from which gasoline had seeped along the roadway.

Lying on Pavement

Mr. Marshall said his son was found lying on the pavement at the right side of their automobiles when the fire was extinguished. Statements by the fire department personnel and other witnesses are being compiled and an inquest will be held.

A veteran police officer commented that had sparks ignited the fire truck, which carries up to 50 gallons of gasoline, one of more of the dwelling adjacent to the wrecked vehicle "probably would have burned."

A priest passing by the accident scene, the Rev. Richard Niburge of St. Boniface Church, Edwardsville, reportedly gave assistance to the firemen.

Assigned to the main fire station on Madison Avenue, the 1947 pumper involved in the accident was responding to a fire alarm in the 1500 block of Garfield Avenue, where a caller reported, "the back of the house is on fire," a spokesman for the department said.

A fire truck from the Nameoki fire station, in whose jurisdiction the Garfield accident is located, already had been dispatched to answer the call, with the main station pumper sent as a back-up measure which is standard procedure on house fires.

Only Trash Fire

Tragically, the blaze to which the pumper was speedily enroute was a grass and trash fire in the rear yard of the dwelling and not the house itself. A trash fire usually calls for only one truck from the nearest station, the department official noted.

The Marshall home was burglarized a week ago when the thieves took $250 in cash and other loot worth $300. Entry was gained by breaking a door glass.

Mr. Marshall was born in Granite City and had been a lifelong resident. He had been employed for the past 16 years as a millwright at Granite City Steel Co. and was a member of Glenview Chapel, Local 67 of the United Steelworkers of America.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rae Marshall, and three children, Cynthia, 14; David, 12; and Jane Marie, 11.

He also leaves three brothers, John and James Marshall of Potosi, Mo., and Walter of Potosi, Mo.; Mrs. Dorothy Marshall of Potosi.

He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Eunice Skaggs of Potosi, Mo., and a young daughter, Mrs. Edna Jones of Granite City.

Joint funeral services will be held this afternoon. Detailed funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Three persons were injured a two-car collision on Route 3 at Pontoon Road at 2:40 p.m. Friday.

State police said the mishap occurred when cars driven by Karl Sloat, 22, of Overland, Mo., westbound on Pontoon Road, and Earl J. Thuneman, 47, St. Louis, headed north on Route 3, collided at the intersection.

Sloat was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for contusions to the scalp and abrasions and contusions to the right leg and transferred to Jewish Hospital, St. Louis. Thuneman was treated at the hospital here for abrasions to the right hand, right knee, was x-rayed and released.

Peggy Myleart, 21, of Rural Route Two, Granite City, a passenger in the Sloat car, was treated for a cerebral concussion, lower back strains and was admitted.

Mrs. Mattie McCutcher, 807 Iowa St., Madison, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in a three-car accident at 12th Street and Madison Avenue at 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

GUIDE TO BUYING CHICKEN

How do you pick the best food buy? Chicken is usually among the least costly and most popular main dishes. And, how good the buy is depends on the form in which poultry is purchased. A whole chicken always costs less than if it is cut up. However, chicken breasts and drumsticks permit family members to have the pieces they like best... and these pieces may provide more meat for the money if you buy right. How do you decide when chicken parts are as good a buy as the whole chicken? If the whole chicken sells for 35 cents a pound, then chicken breasts are an equally good buy at 48 cents a pound. Or, you can pay as much as 43 cents a pound for drumsticks and 28 cents a pound for wings. If the pieces sell for less than this, you are getting more meat for your money by buying the pieces instead of the whole bird. But if the prices are higher, you will save money by purchasing the whole chicken. If you buy the whole bird, you might simmer or stew the less meaty parts for broth.

McKendree College Launching Spring Campaign for Finances

Lebanon School Called the Most Improved U.S. College

McKendree College, founded in 1828, is the oldest institution of higher learning in Illinois and the oldest college in the U.S.A. continuously affiliated with The Methodist Church. McKendree's charter states its purpose simply: To promote the general interest of education; to qualify young men and women to engage in the several employments and professions of society; and to discharge honorably and usefully the various duties of life.

The educational program of the college was thus set in the context of the liberal arts, and this continues to be the fundamental orientation of the institution.

Over the years, many state and national leaders have been the products of this program. Thousands of pre- and post-graduate teachers and ministers have received their under-graduate education at McKendree.

McKendree College is located in Lebanon, 20 miles east of St. Louis, on Highway 50. McKendree is a fully-accredited four-year co-educational, liberal arts college.

Major offerings include business, education, music, art, speech, English, physical and natural sciences, mathematics, history, philosophy, political science, sociology, psychology.

physical education and pre-professional training in several areas. Bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees may be earned.

One of the great strengths of McKendree is a dedicated faculty with a genuine commitment to teaching. Thirty-six per cent of the teachers have earned doctorates.

The student-faculty ratio is 13 to 1. With a student body of approximately 500 there is unlimited opportunity for individual growth.

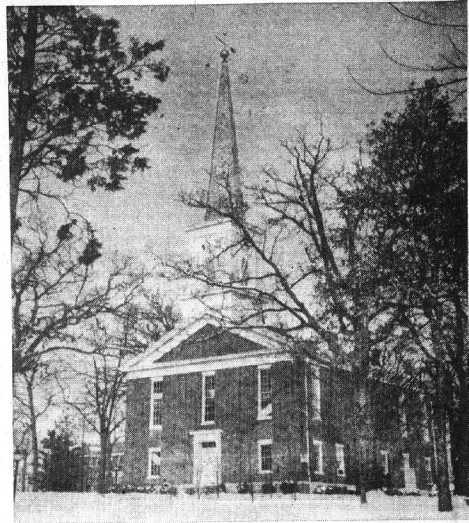

The student body stems mainly from Illinois; however, 14 states and six foreign countries are represented.

The 43-acre campus offers a blending of early American and Georgian architecture.

The Redwell Chapel, constructed in 1857 and recently renovated is still the outstanding building of the area.

The newest buildings, many of which are air-conditioned, include a library, with a capacity for 75,000 volumes, a science building, men's and women's residence halls, a student campus center, and a cafeteria.

U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy recently called McKendree "the most improved college in the United States."

Fund Squeeze Despite Higher Tuition, Fees

McKendree College is facing the future with confidence, but it is confronted by serious financial problems.

And financial difficulties are playing no college favorites.

According to a Carnegie Commission Report, two-thirds of the nation's 2,300 colleges are in financial trouble or heading for financial disaster. "Higher education has come upon hard times," the report says, "and serious enough to be called a depression."

McKendree is also caught in the financial squeeze.

A limited student market exists for private colleges today. With a rapid increase in tax-supported community facilities and spiraling costs of private education, many students have sought public education, even though in many cases they would prefer the smaller, private college.

Experts predict that the number of students in private colleges will remain at about 2.4 million even though they also predict a rise to 12 million college students in all institutions by 1980.

Quadrupling in Decade

Rapid rise in operating costs. McKendree's costs have quadrupled in the last decade.

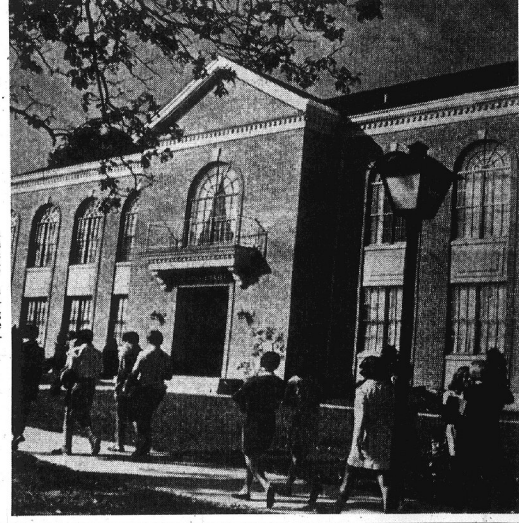

Tuition and other costs have been increased, but there is a limit to what students can afford, even in an affluent society.

The need for additional gift support to balance the budget has also jumped dramatically.

Ten years ago, McKendree received $138,857 in gifts, money (67% of which came from the Southern Illinois Conference of the United Methodist Church) to balance its annual operating budget.

Today, $415,390 (18% of which came from the Conference) must be necessary to balance.

This means that $34,880 must be raised by this budget year from alumni and friends to stay in the black. Last year $140,000 was received from alumni and friends. This year, the challenge has more than doubled.

Deny Variance at Lipsett Steel Co.

The Illinois Air Pollution Control Board denied in Chicago today a request by Lipsett Steel Co. of Granite City for a variance in the open burning of freight cars for salvage of scrap steel. The firm had requested a variance until June when it will begin use of a closed incinerator.

The ruling according to IAPC board chairman, David Currie, results from a hearing in Alton a month ago in which Granite City residents testified in opposition to continued burning operations at the plant.

Permission to continue burning was sought under a plan to use gas-fired burning operations as a means of cutting emissions, a board spokesman said, but the board ruled that emissions still are great at the beginning of the operation.

Mayor Barred

os, Claude Green, R.E. Robertson, Steve Basarick, Walter Noon, Gerald Parmlay, Paul Schuler and Emerald Dawes. Present council members who were not a party to the suit are Paul Rutledge, Thomas Boker and Sam Whitmer.

Judge White said in his ruling that the court acted on six questions in controversy. These were:

1. Authority of the mayor to appoint or employ personnel to administrative duties in the police department; 2. authority of the mayor to appoint or employ personnel to administrative positions in the city generally; 3. authority of the mayor to make 30-day appointments; 4. authority of the mayor to make 30-day appointments of officers of the city; 5. whether such appointments can be made without the consent of aldermen and whether or not the mayor can fix compensation for the appointees; 6. whether the aldermen or the mayor have the authority to appoint a fire chief and a police chief.

The text of Judge White's ruling:

We will discuss questions One (1) and Six (6) together, as the court is of the opinion that they are so interwoven that it would be useless to discuss them separately.

In order to resolve this question, it is necessary to review certain ordinances passed by the city council of Granite City.

The city passed a municipal code in 1959 which created a Board of Fire and Police Commissioners as provided by law.

(Section 8.101 of the Municipal Code of Granite City, Illinois.) The same code created the Police Department (6.001) and the Fire Department (7.001). The appointment of all police department members was vested in the Board except the chief of police and the appointment of members of the fire department was given to the mayor with the advice and consent of the city council (6.003). The same was true of the fire chief (1.003) and members of the fire department.

In 1970, Ordinance No. 2674 and Ordinance No. 2675 were passed by the Council overriding the mayor's veto. The effect of Ordinance No. 2674 was to take the power of appointment of the fire chief away from the mayor and invest said appointment with the city council. Ordinance No. 2675 had the same effect with the chief of police. Other changes were made in each department, but we are not concerned with them in this proceeding.

Created by Law
The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners in Granite City is a creature of the Legislature (See Chapter 24 I.R.S. 102-1-1) and city council action (Sec. 8.101). The Board has the power of appointment of all members of the departments, "including the chief of police and the chief of the fire department, unless the council shall by ordinance as to them otherwise provide." (24 I.R.S. 102-1-4)

The Court has found no case where the question of legality of an ordinance granting the city council authority to appoint the fire chief and chief of police has been passed on. The Court is familiar with the case of People ex rel Cadell v. Board of Fire and Police Commissioners of the City of East

St. Louis (103 NE 2 666) where the court held that the power of the city council in accordance with the language of 24 I.R.S. 102-1-5, which states:

"No such rule shall be made by the board to govern the operation of the police or fire department or the conduct of its members unless the governing body of the municipality specifically authorizes the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners to make such rules."

In regard to Question two, three and four, the court is of the opinion that these questions are controlled by the Municipal Code of Granite City, passed in 1959 and more particularly, Chapter Ten, thereof, Section 10.101 of said Code reads as follows:

"10.101. Appointments. Unless otherwise provided by statute or ordinance, the mayor with the consent of the council, shall make appointments to fill all appointive offices; all city employees shall be selected by the mayor in absence of provisions to the contrary."

Terms of Office
10.102. Terms of office and vacancies. Every appointive officer of the City shall hold office for a term of one year or until his successor is appointed and qualified unless it is otherwise provided by ordinance. Employees selected shall serve so long as their services are desired."

The court has not had its attention called to any ordinance which have repealed these sections either with the police department and fire department ordinances.

The Court is, therefore, of the opinion that the mayor has the following appointive powers:

a. All appointive offices are made by the mayor with the consent of the Council and all appointive offices are for a period of one year.

b. Employees are selected by the Mayor and they serve as long as their services are desired.

The court is of the opinion that the Mayor has no authority to make 30-day appointments either of appointive offices or of employees.

In regard to question five, the court also is of the opinion that the mayor has no power to fix salaries or compensation for any of the appointive offices or employees. This is a legislative action resting solely in the province of the city council.

The Judge's Order Said:
Complaint for declaratory judgment and answer thereto called for determination. The court finds an actual controversy exists between the parties. The court finds the respondent mayor has no authority to appoint or employ personnel to perform administrative positions in the police department of the City of Granite City, Illinois, and the respondent mayor has no authority to establish compensation to be paid said personnel.

The authority to appoint personnel in the police department of the City of Granite City, Illinois, is vested in the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners of the City of Granite City, Illinois; the authority to establish compensation for all personnel in the police department of Granite City, Illinois, is vested in the city council; the respondent mayor has the authority to appoint or employ personnel in administrative positions in the City of Granite City, Illinois, with the consent of the City Council, but he has no right to establish compensation of the said personnel.

Scouts Invited to Compete In Anti-Litter Contest

Area Boy Scout troops have been invited to compete in a massive anti-litter prevention contest sponsored by the Owens-Illinois, Inc., corrugated box plant at Madison.

According to William T. Kolva, O-I plant general manager, the contest was developed to support and stimulate enthusiasm on a local and national level for Project SOAR—an intensive year-long environmental improvement effort sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America.

Project SOAR—"Save Our American Resources"—is designed to inspire Boy Scouts to improve the environment as well as help them learn the importance of preserving our national resources, Mr. Kolva said.

Owens-Illinois announced the contest in a full-page advertisement in the March-April issue of Scouting Magazine. Every Boy Scout troop within the geographic area of the Scout Council where an Owens-Illinois facility is located can compete.

All Troops Invited

Mr. Kolva invited all Boy Scout troops in local Scout Council 128 to join in the contest. The winner of the local award also will be eligible for national awards totaling $3,000, he pointed out. The top national winner will receive $500 in scouting merchandise.

Scout troops in the area wishing to participate will return the coupon appearing with the ad in Scouting Magazine, Mr. Kolva said.

The Cahokia Mound Council 128 represents 59 troops and about 1,240 Boy Scout members. All scout troops in Bond County and the southern part of Madison County are members of council and are eligible to compete.

The Owens-Illinois plant here is one of 95 O-I plants in 83 communities and 28 states that will cooperate in similar programs to stimulate and recognize the Boy Scout's Project SOAR.

Owens-Illinois will make 118 awards, totaling more than $5,000 in money and scout merchandise.

The Owens-Illinois program began yesterday and will run through June 5—which the Boy Scouts have designated "Scouting Keep America Beautiful Day." On that day, a massive cleanup project mobilizing boy power and adult power will be launched to make an impact on the litter problem all over America.

Local scout troops who develop anti-litter programs will be asked by Charles T. King, project coordinator at the Owens-Illinois plant, to submit a report of their litter-prevention accomplishments during the program. Contest entries will be judged on the basis of significance, effectiveness, group effort and thoroughness.

Mr. King said the plant will offer suggestions, advice, and assistance in such things as troop sponsored cleanup drives; litter hikes; and troop-inspired cleanup and education programs.

For further information explaining the scope of the Owens-Illinois contest, interested scout troops should contact Mr. King at 463-9700 or write him in care of the Owens-Illinois plant at 4th and State Streets, Madison, Ill.

The local corrugated box plant employs about 150 people.

Owens-Illinois, a leading manufacturer of glass, plastic, paper, and glass-ceramic products, has more than 68,000 employees and is the 8th largest industrial company in the United States.

Venice Township Budget Cut; Annual Meet Set

A 1971-72 operating budget of $183,850 for Venice township—a decrease of $4,114 below last year's appropriation of $197,964—has been posted for public inspection by the town board and will be subject to final approval, along with a tax levy bill, in an annual electors meeting April 13.

The new budget embodies decreases in the town fund and general assistance funds, but part of these are offset by a rise in both the road and bridge fund and the municipal retirement fund.

While the budget shows only slight deviation from last year's figures, the tax levy due for approval at the annual electors meeting is expected to be considerably higher than that of last year—fixed at $123,430—because of Supreme Court rulings last year that divides surplus fees of the town collector among taxing districts rather than allocation solely to the town fund.

In the past the township has received from $35,000 to $45,000 each year in surplus fees received by the town collector and collecting Venice township taxes. The new ruling that these fees must be divided proportionately among all tax agencies of the township on the basis of their tax rates will deprive the town fund of these "fees." As a result, the new tax levy is expected to approximate the full amount of the budget.

Electors to Meet
Arthur "Cooper" Moore, supervisor of Venice township, said the town electors meeting will be held in the Venice city hall at 1:30 p.m. April 13 to approve the new budget and the tax levy. However, new legislation passed last year permits the town board to give final approval to the budget and tax levy without confirmation of the electors at the annual meeting.

The still requires, however, that the electors' meeting must be held.

The new Venice township appropriation sets up $73,000 in expenditures out of the town fund, compared with $75,966 appropriated last year, and $54,920 for general assistance (welfare), compared with the 1970-71 budget of $89,108.

The road and bridge fund budget estimates expenditures at $24,630, up slightly from last year's figure of $22,580, while Municipal Retirement fund requirements during the 1971-72 fiscal are projected at $11,250, up from $10,250.

Last year, because of income in tax collectors fees—prior to the change caused by the Supreme Court ruling—Venice projected expenditures of only $25,000 to meet the $75,966 in projected expenditures of the town fund. Without those fees next year, taxes are certain to be increased to make up for the loss.

The new budget provides town fund expenditures including $32,000 for compensation to town officers, an increase of $600 over last year's $31,600 figure. Town officers' expense is projected at $27,500 compared with $20,250 last year, and other services and expenses are estimated at $9,500, compared with $12,650 last year.

Welfare Costs
Total projected expenditures for general assistance purposes are set at $54,920 in the new budget, down from $59,168 last year. A breakdown of estimated expenses for this fund includes $45,000 for home relief purposes down $5,000 from last year's $51,000.

Expenses for administration of Venice township are projected at $15,520, compared with $18,668 a year ago. A breakdown of estimated expenses for this fund includes $45,000 for home relief purposes down $5,000 from last year's $51,000.

In the road and bridge fund, the appropriation of $24,630 for all purposes includes $15,000 for maintenance of roads ($11,600 last year); $5,000 for road oiling ($6,350 last year); weed elimination, $840 (same); administration, $2,740 (same), and contingency, $1,000 (same).

The program will include the Bach Concerto No. 2 in E Major for Clarinet and Orchestra, featuring Mr. Perahia; the Bach Brandenburg Concerto No. 3, and the Bach Brandenburg Concerto No. 4, which will feature concertmaster Max Rabinovich and flutists Jacob Bergin and James Coleman. Mr. Perahia also will perform Handel's Chaconne in G Minor and Scarlatti's Three Sonatas.

Major points and minor, too

by Gordon M. Quarnstrom

SHANNON: Here in the green and fertile midwest portion of Ireland the traveler finds modern economic development projects bringing new jobs and new housing, but without disruption to the quiet, scenic beauty of the area.

Thousands get their impression of Ireland from a stop at the Shannon airport, one of the busiest in Europe.

A stopover is far better, with enough time to see the historic sights and beautiful scenery of this charming area.

A stopover at Shannon can be arranged without additional plane fare. It's like getting a bonus. I'm reminded by the Shannon Houghton, of Irish International Airlines, which offers service to both Shannon and Dublin and then on to the major cities of Europe from Boston, New York and Chicago.

The Shannon River flows for 170 miles before it widens into a 60-mile estuary near here.

During its 170-mile trip, it connects several lakes and the Grand Canal it links them all with Dublin.

Numerous lakes and other streams also help make the region excellent for boating and fishing, but there is much to do and see in this area composed of County Clare, County Limerick and County Tipperary.

There are many fine golf courses and race tracks, for instance. And, using Shannon or Limerick as a headquarters, the tourist can spend delightful days on a visit to the ruins of the Cliffs of Moher, the rugged Burren country and literally hundreds of ruined castles and abbeys.

WINDUP your visit here with a night at Bunratty Castle or Knappogue Castle, each with fine food and entertainment, and you will have the next lap of your holiday with warm and wonderful memories.

BE WARY: Slick roads are particularly dangerous when your tires are bald, says the Allstate Motor Club.

Your car can hydroplane, too, which means rising up enough on the water to reduce your grip on the road. Slow down when the pavement is wet!

MAGNIFICENT BOOK: The most beautiful book of its kind this writer has seen is "Mexico," by Hans Amsharov and Hans Leuenberger, with more than 100 truly magnificent color photographs by Henri-Maurice Bernier.

The book is distributed by Robert McElroy & Co. of Chicago. It is a beautiful book, with quality that will make an outstanding gift and a fine addition to any library, private or public.

The authors tell both the geography and the history of our neighbor to the south.

They describe how the ruins of the great civilizations of the Aztecs and Toltecs exist buried in the remains of 300 years of Spanish domination, and how all the elements help make up a thriving modern state where native Indian, Spanish and American influences co-exist in a beautiful harmony.

Anyone planning to visit Mexico would gain much from a reading of this fine publication. My next trip to Mexico will be to the elegant hotel where native Indian, Spanish and American influences co-exist in a beautiful harmony.

50 Years Ago Trains Collide at Venice Crossing

MARCH 22, 1921

A flagman for the local McKinley Lines at the Chicago & Alton Railroad crossing at Venice was killed instantly at the crossing when a southbound passenger train crashed into a string of freight cars, eastbound on the Illinois Traction System. A conductor on the Southern Railroad was knocked down and injured; he disappeared afterward and probably went to his home. The accident occurred at the McKinley crossing on Broadway near the bridge approach; it had started on the crossing before it was noticed that the passenger train was bearing down upon it.

Honeycomb Classroom-Attempt to Achieve Privacy, Self-Expression

By PETE BROWN, SIU News Services

One of the rooms at Avery School in Downers Grove is so popular that every once in awhile they have to lock it up to keep the third and fourth graders out.

It's not a gymnasium, a snack bar or an amusement center. It is a regular classroom—but of decidedly irregular furnishings.

"Life" magazine called it "a room full of one-room schoolhouses." One of the students summed up her feeling about the place this way:

Spaces
Peaceful, Quiet
Learn, Listen, Beautiful
All hooked together
Spaces

What they are talking about is a cluster of 24 "unconnected octahedrons" that are like nothing so much as a room-sized honeycomb. Each child has a five-foot-wide cell of his own equipped with carpeting, a drop-down chair, collapsible desk and light. He can decorate his space any way he chooses.

He can have visitors or not as he chooses. Some faces of the 14-sided cells are open for crawling in and out for talking to the teacher or classmates. They are three stories high.

At Avery County they are called "learning cells." They are initial returns system to show that the tenants are not only liking them but learning more in them, too.

Said the girl who wrote the poem: "It feels like a fort, and it's really for privacy."

The guy who dreamed up this room full of one-room schoolhouses is Larry Busch, a young instructor of design at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

When he tried to recall his grade-school days in hometown Champaign he thought about the rare moments of privacy and self-expression that he experienced to the early-learning experience.

So when Avery County approached the SIU design department—that that is, a graduate student—about a system of modifying the classroom environment in such a way as to help the child, Busch started thinking private and self-expression.

He went to the books and found only one that dealt with the environmental side of schools. It said that if you properly landscape a school you

$50,000 Grant by Illinois Arts Council Could

Lead to Music Festival Continuation in 1971

The Mississippi River Festival board deserves commendation for continuing its plans for a third Mississippi River Festival concert series this July and August, despite the curtailment of financial assistance from Southern Illinois University.

But the 1971 season is not assured at this point. SIU-SW will need to continue to make the Festival site available; $25,000 will be needed from the Missouri State Council on the Arts; and $30,000 will be required from the Illinois Arts Council.

Favorable action in all three instances is justified by the outstanding accomplishments of the River Festival, whose 1970 attendance was 118,000, a 34% increase over the 1969 turnout of 88,000.

The MRF introduced thousands of Illinoisans and Missourians to the Mississippi River (over 60% of those attending were Illinois residents). It "bridged" the Mississippi River as no other institution has ever done before. It became a major tourist attraction and gained national publicity for this region, such as several New York Times articles and two color pages in Life magazine.

The Festival brought to college and high school students of this area direct contact with a wide spectrum of the musical arts. It enabled the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra to offer a 49-week employment schedule to its nearly 100 musicians, making possible a high-quality professional orchestra to serve this portion of the Midwest.

An additional reason for a $50,000 grant by the Illinois Arts Council is that the MRF has planned much heavier emphasis on its educational and youth-oriented potential. The funds are to be used as follows:

$19,000—Participation by the orchestra and its conductors in a general studies course, Introduction to Music History-Literature, at SIU-SW.
$13,000—Two concerts by the orchestra, with soloists, at SIU, Carbondale.
$6,000—Promotion of the Festival among the educational community.

And $12,000—More youth-oriented concerts and workshops, plus use as soloists with the Symphony Orchestra, or in special concerts.

Dangers of Drug Abuse Are Being Minimized Erroneously, Tragically

TO THE EDITOR:

To readers — is your child using drugs? In watching the "so-called experts" on the faces of some of the parents whose sons and daughters were involved in the recent Burchfield riots, I wonder how many really know if their child is using drugs.

The use of drugs is viewed by some students, even non-users, with tolerance, similar to the tolerance of adults toward the alcohol user.

Regular student users are eager to involve others in the use of drugs by offering samples. They rationalize that they are performing a "beneficial" service. They say that their use is less harmful than alcohol, LSD is "mind expanding" and so on.

Since using marijuana is not seen by youngsters as criminal or immoral, they do not respond to threats of arrest or medical dangers.

While, regrettably, some of the "so-called experts" have failed to take a strong stand on marijuana and are telling the kids that it is all right to use it, former drug addicts who have used it take a strong position on the danger of all drugs.

The greatest danger of drugs is that they lead to the use of more dangerous drugs. The kids are revolving around drugs instead of involved with the excitement of life itself.

The schools and parents should recognize a responsibility to warn students of the risks involved in drug use. If you youngsters have a brain in your head, don't try to find out if you are an addictive personality.

Groundbreaking Ceremony Held for Madison High School Athletic Field

MARCH 22, 1946

Groundbreaking exercises for the Madison High School athletic field were held, with Claude Echols, school board president, turning the first shovel of dirt. Other attending were Mayor Steven J. Morris, School Board Secretary J. B. White, MHS principal, Walter Atkinson, MHS coach, George Wilkins, Madison Superintendent of Schools, Boris Gitcho, school sociologist, Charles Werner, member of the school board, George Thomas, who is an MHS instructor, and Carl Berninger, a former high school teacher.

students and faculty members of Illinois educational institutions.

There is no question but that the Festival, in its two-year history, has amply demonstrated its value to this area, to Illinois and to the nation. It deserves to be continued and expanded, with its educational role intensified.

By approval of the $50,000 request, the Illinois Arts Council can do much toward assuring that a great artistic resource will not be lost.

Mounds Area Needs to Be Acquired by State

Before Its Preservation Becomes Impossible

The Cahokia Mounds State Park has been called the single most important archaeological site in the United States. It is situated near Horseshoe Lake State Park, for which site acquisition is in its early stages.

Because the Cahokia Mounds Park does not yet have a sufficient land base, because the Horseshoe Lake Park is progressing with agonizing slowness, and because a logical link-up between the two parks has not yet been accomplished, it is imperative that the state take action.

Awareness of the park needs by the Illinois General Assembly and Illinois Building Authority is important, along with the Illinois State Museum, which will be asked to develop the Cahokia Mounds as an archaeological and tourist attraction. And the Conservation Department represents a key ingredient, through its power to plan, recommend and implement park development.

Prompt action at Springfield is advisable to prevent the loss of historic land to private and commercial development. Areas of special interest are Rattlesnake Mound, south of the present Cahokia Mounds Park boundary, and a group of mounds north of Interstate 70.

The tragic crash between an auto and a Granite City street truck Friday night occurred at the hazardous intersection which has been the subject of comment here in the past—27th Street and Madison Avenue.

The accident caused two deaths and injured several persons. It is not necessary to determine the precise responsibility for it in order to conclude that additional steps should be taken to prevent such collisions in the future. Here are our suggestions:

1. Additional traffic control markings and procedures at 27th-Madison, which has had far more than its share of serious crashes.
2. More careful operation of emergency vehicles as they proceed past stoplights or stop signs.

3. Installation of more easily heard warning devices, such as the new type of horns with alternating tones.

Some local residents have a keen sense of humor.

We see things not as they are but as we are.

Where evil flourishes, it is because the good people let their differences divide them instead of letting the things on which they agree unite them.

PORTFOLIO FAVORS ANY OF THREE CANDIDATES

TO THE EDITOR: The current school year, 1970-71, is furnishing us with some of the best thrillers we have ever experienced in our lives.

Last fall, the football team came through with a near-perfect season. Then came the wrestling with the basketball team.

And now, the typically great team just completed a really good season, beating some outstanding teams and bringing home several trophies.

I'm tempted to mention names, but I'll just say a special thanks to you graduating seniors, to the young men, to the young women, to the young people.

We know you guys enjoy playing in these sports. But I want to let you know how much we fans enjoy watching and cheering.

Congratulations, coaches and players.

PORTFOLIO FAVORS ANY OF THREE CANDIDATES

TO THE EDITOR: I would like to mention a few things about the candidates for superintendent of schools in Granite City, who are running for the next year.

I wonder if there is a law to protect me and other people like me.

I am recalling the past. I am not too far or distant one, and look forward to a not too bright future, unless there is another way to get where in North Granite City.

Laws Affecting Checks Outline Liabilities and Responsibilities

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

Checks are a common way of transacting financial matters and keeping records, but many people don't understand the laws that apply to their use.

A check is a legal written order to your bank to pay the stated sum to the person you name on the check.

In legal terms, you are the "drawer," the person you name is the "payee," and your bank is the "drawee." All three have responsibilities and may be liable under the law.

It is not wise to make out a check to "cash." If lost or stolen, it is very easy for anyone to cash. For this reason, we suggest you make a check payable to cash only when you are immediately ready to use it.

When the payee receives your check, he must endorse it in one of three ways before receiving money from it.

(1) An "endorsement in blank" means a person's check is payable to the bearer and may consist of a mere signature.

(2) A "special endorsement" means he writes the words "pay to the order of (Mary Jones)" above his signature. The check can be validly transferred only to Mary Jones.

(3) A "restrictive endorsement" means the payee designates it for a specific purpose, such as a deposit to, or checking or savings account.

When a check is cashed, the number of persons who endorse a check, unless they otherwise agree, they are liable to one another in the order in which they endorse it. It is presumed this is the order in which their signatures appear on the check.

If you sign out the amount one way and write it numerically another, the bank will use the word figure, unless the words are ambiguous. Then the numerical figure will be used.

Handwritten terms take preference over printed or typewritten terms.

The law also states that the negotiability of a check "is not affected by the fact that it is particular check, but teaching a profound faith in the one living and true God.

The DeMolay ritual is what sets the organization apart from other youth groups, and it was written in 1919 by Frank Marshall, a prominent Mason.

The organization was named for Jacques DeMolay, the last Grand Master of the Knights Templar who was burned at the stake by King Phillip of France on March 18, 1314, as a martyr to loyalty and tolerance.

Today, DeMolay members strive to carry on the life ideals for which Jacques DeMolay gave his life—loyalty, reverence to God and fellow man.

Frank Land served as the Secretary General for DeMolay in 1959. He died on Nov. 8, 1959. By 1920, the organization had grown to 3,000 members, and chapters were soon instituted from coast to coast and in several foreign countries.

Today, there are over 2,500 DeMolay chapters and nearly three million young men have taken their oaths.

DeMolay membership is open to any young man of good character who is between the ages of 14 and 21.

Although DeMolay chapters are sponsored only by Masonic bodies or individual Masons, it is not necessary that a boy be a son or relative of a Mason to be a DeMolay.

The organization is governed by the International Supreme Council composed of over 200 outstanding Masons located around the world.

Each individual chapter is supervised in its functions by an adult advisory council. Except for a small staff at DeMolay headquarters in Kansas City, the DeMolay movement are voluntary.

DeMolay's slogan is "Youth Men of Tomorrow" and its theme this year is environmental action.

Although DeMolay ritual and meetings are serious and reverent, the organization does not advocate any Other projects that have been carried on include charitable fund drives, blood donations, civil defense, anti-communist campaigns, and distribution of safe-driver pledges.

The current project is a united effort to support environmental cleanup projects and activities. DeMolay does not attempt to take the place of the home or church, but rather to supplement them. The organization's purpose is to offer young men today: (1) a wholesome preparation for spare time; (2) worthwhile associates; (3) the program of environmental action; and (4) an interest in the betterment of all-around youth development.

GC Steel Pollution Case First of Kind in Area

Widespread interest was developing today in a scheduled April 6 hearing of air pollution charges filed by the Illinois State Air Pollution Control Board against Granite City Steel Co. The case will be the first major hearing of its kind in this area since creation of the Environmental Protection Agency.

The hearing date was scheduled last week. The pollution board ruling that rejected a dismissal motion by the steel firm, based on the contention that the legislation creating the EPA was unconstitutional.

The steel company has been charged with numerous and continuing violations of the State's air pollution rules and regulations dating back to 1967.

In an opinion written by Board Chairman David P. Currie, rejecting the dismissal plea, the company was said to have "trotted out a medley of pre-hearing arguments that would destroy the Environmental Protection Act and make protection of the public from pollution virtually impossible."

The steel company, represented by the Chicago law firm of Jenner & Block, had argued that the complaint should be dismissed on the ground that the air pollution acts were unconstitutional.

They maintained that a prohibition in the present Act against "air pollution" was so vague and indefinite as to be unenforceable but, in denying the motion the Board pointed to a recent decision issued by the Illinois Supreme Court which upheld a statute giving the Metropolitan Sanitary District authority to sue to "prevent pollution" even though "pollution" was not defined.

The company further argued that the statutes unconstitutionally delegated legislative authority to the Pollution Control Board but if this were so, Mr. Currie pointed out, agencies such as the Illinois Commerce Commission, the Industrial Commission, the Mining Board, the Department of Public Health, the Department of Mines and Minerals and many others would no longer be permitted to operate, and "government could not function if this argument were accepted."

The company had also suggested that the Environmental Protection Act was unconstitutional in that it outlawed the discharge of "harmless" contaminants which had an adverse effect only when combined with discharges from other sources of pollution. In rejecting this position as being "untenable," the Board pointed out that not only had the steel company failed to show that its discharges were in fact harmless, but that "no one has a constitutional right to be the straw that breaks the camel's back."

The Board ordered the hearing on the complaint against the company to proceed without further delay. The hearings will be held in the City Council Chambers in Granite City.

Arts Council Asked to Give $50,000 to River Festival

S. Leonard Pas Jr., executive director of the Illinois Arts Council, was asked Friday to provide $50,000 to help assure the Mississippi River Festival's concert series in July and August 1971 at SIU-SW. Peter Pastreich, managing director of the MRF and St. Louis Symphony, said the grant would enable the MRF to place "heavier emphasis on the educational and youth-oriented potential of the Festival."

"He related that 'costs exceeding box office receipts of the 1969 Festival were covered by Southern Illinois University and the St. Louis Symphony Society; for the 1970 Festival by SIU, the Symphony Society and private contributions; and for the 1971 Festival by SIU, the Symphony Society and private contributions."

"In order to continue the Festival in 1971 in spite of the loss of operating funds from SIU, with increased private support and increased support from the Symphony Society, grants from the Illinois Arts Council and the Missouri State Council on the Arts are necessary."

$25,000 from Missouri
"It is anticipated that the Missouri State Council on the Arts will contribute $25,000 to the 1971 Festival."

Pastreich noted that 1970 MRF attendance was 118,000, a 34% increase over the 1969 attendance of 88,000.

The educational elements to be emphasized in 1971 include: 1. Two concerts by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, with soloists, at Shryock Auditorium, SIU, Carbondale. 2. Participation by the orchestra and its conductors in a general studies course, GSC 156 (Introduction to music history-literature) at SIU-SW.

Teaching Resource
The course, open to university students and non-university students who pay a nominal fee, is to make use of the orchestra as a teaching resource. Using the Communications Building theater, the orchestra and sections of it would demonstrate relationships which exist in the history of orchestral music and in individual orchestral works.

Music Director Walter Susskind, his assistant, Leonard Slakin, and the SIU-SW music faculty are to lecture, and demonstration by individual orchestra members are to be included.

3. Use as soloists with the Symphony Orchestra, or in special concerts, of students and faculty of Illinois educational institutions. This may include such musical artists as Ruth Slenczynska, a high school or college chorale, or the Milliken Jazz Band from the University of Illinois.

Youth-Oriented Concerts
4. More youth-oriented concerts, both symphonic and popular, and greater participation in the selection process by students. Six SIU-SW students are

MARIJUANA... YOU CAN BECOME A FOOL.

Smoking "Pot, Tea, Grass or Weed," all of them names for Marijuana, creates a feeling of superiority to others. That is its chief attraction to persons with unstable minds, who are unsure of themselves.

Actually Marijuana users find it more difficult to make wise decisions that require clear thinking. Reflexes are affected and driving under the influence of Marijuana is dangerous.

Its physical reactions include a more rapid heart beat, changing blood sugar levels and it stimulates the appetite. Users may become talkative, loud, uneasy or drowsy and the sense of time and distance is distorted.

The next issue of these Public Service messages will discuss the greatest danger to smokers of Marijuana.

The importance of modern lighting for schools

Everyone concerned with education is aware that the teaching-learning process has changed dramatically in the past several years. Today's challenge is to keep the school environment on a par with improvements in education techniques. Illuminating engineers point out that a good lighting environment has a direct correlation with students' learning progress. For instance, research shows that 62 per cent of classroom time these days is spent in visual tasks, most of which require from 70 to 100 footcandles of illumination. Some schools fall below this standard.

Your school can afford good lighting. The difference in cost between inadequate lighting and modern lighting is an insignificant part of the construction budget.

Illinois Power Company illuminating engineers are at the service of any school officials in our territory to offer surveys and professional recommendations that provide your school with a modern lighting environment.

We urge you to give a high priority to good lighting in your school. Then call us. We want to help—and we can.

READY FOR ACTION, Sir Kelly, Madison police dog, crouches on 'attack' command from his handler, Officer Ronald Grzywacz. The dog, responsible for many arrests, has completed a 'refresher' course at a St. Louis training center.

'Sir Kelly' Apt Pupil in Refresher Training Course

Sergeant Ron Grzywacz and Sir Kelly, the Madison police dog, have completed a refresher course at the Universal K-9 Training Center in St. Louis.

The course required three weekends. Sir Kelly was put through his paces and the "bad guys" got the worst of it.

Bernie Tedeschi, director of the center and three other handlers, agreed that Sir Kelly is one of the most vicious and temperamental dogs they have seen when he is put on a "watch" or "attack" command.

Tedeschi also commented on the dog's violent reaction to anyone but his handler who is holding a gun.

The dog trainers noted that Sir Kelly, despite his age of 9, is in better physical condition than most dogs half his age.

Sir Kelly and Sgt. Grzywacz are widely known to many area residents. They have put on demonstrations for several groups in the Quad-Cities.

The dog is the official mascot of Explorer Post 104. His handler is a member of the adult post committee.

Sir Kelly's police accomplishments are many. The most recent occurred during an armed robbery in which three masked men held up a grocery store and police had one of the bandits surrounded. Sir Kelly arrived on the scene and the robber surrendered and called to police not to turn the dog loose.
